

DECORATING FOR YOUR WEDDING

Decorations are the responsibility of the couple. Since there are so many weddings performed at Grace (often two the same day), we discourage a lot of decorations and ask that you exercise sensitivity toward others who may be sharing the facility. Grace is happy to provide some decoration options for your use. Your Wedding Consultant will show these options to you at your meeting, including candelabras, decorative screens, and lighting. Though we cannot guarantee a specific color scheme, the lighting in our Worship Center can be modified to produce a “smaller” feel if desired.

The time slot in which you are permitted to decorate will be discussed at the first meeting with your Wedding Consultant.

Delivery of decorations, including floral, must be prearranged with the Wedding Consultant.

If bows or ribbons are used on the aisle seats, they must be attached with string as no tape or any type of adhesive may be used.

Already existing decorations and furniture in the church may not be moved or removed.

Your decorations must be removed immediately after pictures and the church returned to its original set-up design (unless there is an agreement between you and another couple getting married that day.)

Worship Center décor often corresponds with the current sermon series. Most décor is permanent throughout the sermon series. As your wedding day draws closer, check with your Wedding Consultant regarding décor on your wedding date.

“Farewell” options can be discussed at your meeting. No birdseed, rice or sugar confections may be used on church property.
